Dear Gabe:

I write with respect to our recent exchange regarding forensic testing of Dr. Eklund's documents. In your most recent letter, you demanded a range of testing, including microscopic and punch testing, the latter of which would entail the taking of 5 hole punch samples from each page of the documents. We will make the documents available for inspection and micro-punch testing and will permit you to take 5 micro-punch samples per page per your request. Because we will also conduct forensic testing in parallel with your work, though, we must limit the number of punches from the upper right corner of the documents where the date and page numbers are located to preserve their integrity. That being said, I am certain we can reach some agreement as to the placement of the micro-punches as we get closer to the time for such work.

At the moment, we anticipate that our forensic expert will be able to come to the Bay Area during the latter part of the week of January 22, and we can conduct the inspection and testing at that time. To that end, please let us know if you and your forensic expert are available any of the days of January 24-26 for such testing. Once we know your availability, we will finalize the plans for the inspection/testing and the procedures to be used.

I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Michael R. Headley
